Benefits that you expect to receive.

What new knowledge will you gain, and how will this support your postgraduate studies or research?

What will you do differently as a result of undertaking this research?

Expected relevance to communities. We only support activities that will help communities to tackle the challenges of sustainable poverty-alleviation. Related to this, we expect all applicants to demonstrate some ongoing or planned relevant link with communities. (Such interactions could help applicants to understand and tackle community challenges, and/or could also help communities to understand and apply useful scientific knowledge.)

How will your studies, complemented by this training, support communities in sustainable poverty-alleviation?

Which community (or communities) will you engage with, and how?
